

In the Arctic, people have used seal oil lamps to light their homes for thousands of years. These lamps are made in a variety of shapes.

